ATI PERFORMANCE FRIDAY WINNER - RAIN

After an historic night, ATI Performance Friday at the Sparco Fall Fling presented by Optima Batteries began with wet weather moving in overnight.

For the first time in 'Fling history, two door cars met up in the final round when Andy Dolan faced A.J. Ashe. Dolan's Chevelle had been on a roll all day but Ashe was punch-for-punch on the same journey especially after defeating Wednesday's winner Kyle Cultrera in round seven to win the Lindsay Racing Products Bounty Award for defeating the previous night's winner.

Just to recap, the final was over just as easy as it began when Ashe turned on the red-light to hand the West Virginian Dolan his first 'Fling win.

Consistent rain plagued the morning forcing officials cancel the day's activities. "We do not see a window opening up to have the track dried and get any racing in today," said Kyle Seipel. "The racing action will pick up tomorrow morning at 8:30. GALOT Motorsports Park has the best track drying equipment possible and depending on how long it takes in the morning to get the surface ready, we'll be able to announce a more specific event schedule. We still have a ton of Fling money and prized to give away and are looking forward to a lot of great Fling racing action."

MotorManiaTV.com will continue to live stream the action with sponsorship from Hoosier Tires and JEGS. For all info and results, visit bracketraces.com.
